Safe, stable, residential housing and services designed to assist young adults continue their education and build essential life skills for their future.

The Rites of Passage Program is designed to give youth the skills and confidence they will need to complete their education as well as find and maintain gainful employment, stable housing, and build healthy relationships.

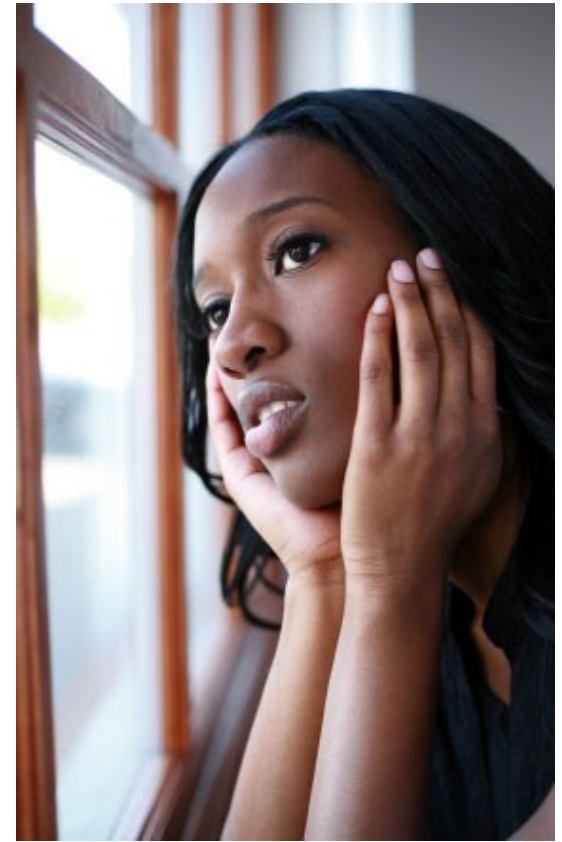

Crossroads Programs' Rites of Passage homes are located in residential communities in Willingboro, New Jersey. They offer a stable environment with 24 hour staffing to who provide guidance, direction and individual life skills training.

Young adults from the age of 16 through 21 who have DCP & P and/or CMO services are eligible for program acceptance. Some opportunities for homeless youth are also available. Young adults must have the capacity to engage in community-based activities, school or college and work outside of the home. Completion of an application and meet and greet appointment must be completed prior to admission.

Your future is brimming with possibilities and hope.

Let us help you take the first step to independence.

Crossroads Programs operates from a youth development perspective that focuses on preparing youth to become healthy independent adults.

Services are driven by the individual goals and needs of each youth. Empowering youth requires that they are driving force in determining their goals, priorities and life choices.
